Dear [Couple's Names],

As you stand before each other today, surrounded by family and friends who love you, I want you to know how truly special this moment is. Your love is a beautiful testament to the power of connection, faith, and tradition. Watching your journey together has been a joy, and I can say without a doubt that your union embodies the essence of togetherness. May your home be filled with laughter, warmth, and love. May you continue to grow together, supporting one another through life's challenges and celebrating each other's successes. As you build your life as a married couple, remember to always embrace the rich tapestry of your Jewish heritage, drawing strength and inspiration from the values it instills. May your love be like the light of the Shabbat candles--glowing brightly, bringing peace and comfort not only to each other but also to everyone around you.

Congratulations on this joyous occasion. I wish you both a lifetime of happiness, health, and love.

With all my love,
