Dear Krishna,

In the stillness of night, under the moon's gentle glow,
I pen these words, where thoughts and feelings flow.
With heart so full, and spirit light,
I seek your presence, my guiding light.
In every leaf that flutters, in every breeze that sways,
I feel your laughter, in the sun's warm rays.
Oh, enchanting flute player, in the depths of my soul,
You weave your melody, making every fragment whole.
With love that transcends the boundaries of time,
Your teachings inspire, in rhythm and rhyme.
Through trials and shadows, your wisdom I find,
A compass in chaos, forever entwined.
So, grant me the strength, to walk in your way,
To embrace with compassion, to love every day.
As I dance through this life, let your spirit arise,
In each heartbeat I cherish, in each moment I prize.
With reverence and hope, I send this to you,
May your blessings surround me, in all that I do.
Ever devoted,
