Dear [Doctor's Name],

Subject: Consultation Request for Pyrexia

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to request a consultation regarding a patient presenting with pyrexia, which has persisted for [duration]. The patient has exhibited symptoms including [list symptoms], and initial evaluations have not yielded a clear diagnosis.

The patient's medical history includes [brief history], and relevant laboratory results show [mention any significant findings]. Given the complexity of the case and the potential for serious underlying conditions, I believe your expertise in [specific area of medicine] would be invaluable in determining the appropriate next steps.

I would appreciate it if you could see the patient at your earliest convenience. Please let me know your available times for an appointment. Thank you for considering this request. I look forward to your favorable reply.

Sincerely,
