Dear [Friend's Name],

I hope this letter finds you well! I was thinking about our recent discussions on the upcoming exam, and I wanted to share some ideas about the question paper with you.

Firstly, I feel that including a mix of multiple-choice questions and short answer questions could really help assess our understanding effectively. Maybe we could recommend some topics that we found challenging during our revisions?

Also, what do you think about incorporating a few practical scenarios in the questions? It could make things more interesting and relatable!

Let me know your thoughts. I'm looking forward to hearing from you soon!

Take care,
