

[Your Name]
[Your Address]
[City, State, Zip Code]
[Email Address]
[Phone Number]
[Date]

Admissions Office
Wuhan University
[University Address]
Wuhan, Hubei, [Postal Code]
China

Dear Admissions Committee,

I am writing to propose a research project titled "[Title of Your Research]" as part of my application for the [specific program, e.g., Ph.D. in Environmental Science] at Wuhan University. I believe that my research aligns with the university's commitment to innovative and impactful scholarship.

My research aims to investigate [briefly outline your research question or hypothesis], which addresses key issues in [relevant field or discipline]. This study will employ [briefly mention your methodology, e.g., qualitative analysis, experimental design], and will focus on [specific population, geographic area, or subject matter].

Furthermore, I am particularly interested in collaborating with the esteemed faculty at Wuhan University, particularly [mention any specific professors or departments relevant to your research]. Their expertise in [specific area] would provide invaluable guidance and insight into my project.

In addition, I believe that conducting this research at Wuhan University presents a unique opportunity to [mention any specific resources, facilities, or collaborations available at the university]. I am optimistic that my findings will contribute to [mention potential applications or implications of your research].

Thank you for considering my proposal. I am looking forward to the opportunity to contribute to the academic community at Wuhan University.
Sincerely,

[Your Name]
[Your Educational Background/Current Position]