Dear [Recipient's Name],

Greetings from the haunting streets of Yharnam. As the night descends and the shadows stretch their grasp, I find myself compelled to reach out to you amidst the chaos that permeates our beloved city.

The air is thick with the pungent scent of blood and the cries of the Beast echo through the cobblestone alleys. As I wander beneath the dim glow of the lanterns, I cannot help but reminisce about the time we spent exploring the depths of the Healing Church and the mysteries that lurk within.

I have unearthed dark secrets that could alter our understanding of the Great Ones and the Old Blood. The hunters have grown restless, and whispers of the Scourge shake the very foundation of our existence. I implore you to heed caution as you traverse these perilous streets. Please, share your experiences and any knowledge you have gathered. Our fates are intertwined, and together we may uncover the truths that lie hidden beneath Yharnam's surface. Be vigilant and watch your step; the night is long, and the Beasts are ever hungry.

Yours in the hunt,
